

Tanzspur Stuttgart 2015

From 7 to 16 September we will host Tanzspur Stuttgart at Produktionszentrum Tanz + Performance, the premiere of our annual summer workshop festival.

You are invited to work on your talents with fantastic dance teachers, to network with peers and experts, and to get on stage for the final performance at Theaterhaus Stuttgart to present your ideas.

Our workshop series will offer orientation and exchange to young people active in the dance and performance sector, bringing together audience, dancers and performers for 10 intensive and exciting days. The workshops are directed at professionals from the fields of dance and performance, dance students and amateurs as well as our audience.

Workshops

From classical ballet and contemporary dance technique to composition, from choreography to improvisation and beginners' dance classes – we have it all.

Mentoring

You can book (free) personal talks in a mentoring format with experts from the Produktionszentrum who offer advice on a wide range of topics, such as development of a performance or professional orientation.

Performance 16 September 2015, 20:00, Theaterhaus T3, Stuttgart

A public showing at the neighbouring Theaterhaus venue will complete the workshop series. Here, the results of the intensive work of participants, choreographers, young people and members of the area's Independent Dance and Performance Scene will be presented. Participants will show excerpts of the artistic ideas developed with the support of invited teachers and dance experts from the Produktionszentrum.

Scholarship

On the evening of the final performance a scholarship is granted to one participant which guarantees a workshop fee waiver.

Funding

Thanks to the support from Innovationsfond Kunst des Ministeriums für Wissenschaft, Forschung und Kunst Baden-Württemberg we are able to hire renowned teachers, offer free mentoring and set moderate course fees that need not cover expenses.
